No 1 I am of the opinion that the level of community engagement by the Gardaí has diminished in recent years

I feel that quite a lot of people in Donegal would not know a serving Garda and within a short period of time the Garda Síochána will be like a neighbouring Police force where local knowledge will be at a low level

No 2 The level of manpower in rural Garda station has diminished with many not opened at all and a corresponding inconvenience to local people who have to travel long distances to have Passports ect certified .
